

NEXUS COVID-19 RESPONSE

Nexus Technologies is fully committed to the safety and well-being of our customers and team members. They remain our top priority. Nexus is actively monitoring the COVID-19 developments and due to the uncertainty of this current public health emergency, we want to clearly state our response.

Nexus is following the guidance of the President, the CDC and State and local authorities on preventing the spread of COVID-19. While fully adhering to those obligations we will continue to honor the design, manufacturing and product distribution commitments we have made and upon which our customers have come to depend. Nexus is open for business and remains steadfast in supporting all of our partners.

Nexus holds "Essential Critical Infrastructure Workers" Identification as specified in Cybersecurity & Infrastructure Security Agency's (CISA) Guidance on the Essential Critical Infrastructure Workforce - Version 1.1 (March 23, 2020), defined under Critical Manufacturing as:

"Workers necessary for the manufacturing of materials and products needed for medical supply chains, and for supply chains associated with transportation, energy, communications, food and agriculture, chemical manufacturing, nuclear facilities, the operation of dams, water and wastewater treatment, emergency services, and the defense industrial base. Additionally, workers needed to maintain the continuity of these manufacturing functions and associated supply chains."

In an abundance of precaution, we have taken additional measures to safeguard our team members and customers. We have expanded the frequency and scope for cleaning and disinfecting our equipment and facilities. We have intensified our policies regarding hand washing and social distancing. We have scheduled shifts to maximize physical spacing and to minimize contact. We are encouraging our non-manufacturing team members to work remotely whenever feasible. Team members are required to stay at home if they feel sick. We are also limiting in-person meetings unless absolutely necessary, and asking our customers to communicate via phone, email or videoconferencing.

Nexus will continue to communicate frequently and openly with all of our customers in order to maximize our design and manufacturing services and minimize any unfortunate surprises.

May you, your associates and your families remain safe and healthy.
